Round Medieval Pavilion

From $260
ex-works, US dollars

A cone on a ring of walls, the medieval tent most people picture.

The classic round pavilion: a single centre pole, a ring of scalloped valance and straight walls that make the floor usable to the edge. Re-enactment societies, film productions and weddings with a period brief order it.

Capacity	8–10 people
Waterproofing	1,500 mm water column
Cloth & frame	400 gsm treated cotton canvas · Seasoned hardwood centre pole · Hand-cut scalloped valance · Solid brass eyelets and finial

Colours: Off White · Black · Brown · Sea Green · Forest Green · Golden Yellow · Red · Royal Blue · Navy Blue

Square Medieval Tent

From $410
ex-works, US dollars

Four corners, four poles, one pitched roof.

A square-plan pavilion on a four-post frame with a pyramidal roof. Easier to furnish than a round tent and easier to line up in a row, which is why encampments buy these by the half dozen.

Capacity	6 people
Waterproofing	1,500 mm water column

Oval Medieval Tent

From $425
ex-works, US dollars

Two poles, one continuous curve.

An oval-plan pavilion: the round tent stretched onto two poles. It looks more graceful than a rectangle and gives a large interior with no straight wall anywhere.

Wedge Medieval Tent

From $175
ex-works, US dollars

The soldier’s tent: two poles and a ridge.

The simplest historical shelter that still works: an A-frame wedge on a ridge pole. Pitches in ten minutes, packs into one bag, and is what most of an encampment actually slept in.

Capacity	2–3 people
Waterproofing	1,500 mm water column
Cloth & frame	360 gsm treated cotton canvas · Seasoned hardwood ridge and uprights · Hemp guy rope with wooden runners · Solid brass eyelets

Double Bell Wedge Tent

From $360
ex-works, US dollars

A wedge with a rounded bell at each end.

The wedge extended with a semicircular bell at both ends. It gives far more usable floor for a small increase in pitch, and it is the pattern most often seen in period illustration.

Capacity	4–6 people

FT01 · CAMPING TENTS

Meridian 4P Family Tent

On enquiry
quoted to your size and cloth

Standing height for four, pitched by two.

A colour-coded pole set and a pre-attached flysheet make this a fifteen-minute pitch. Inside, full standing height across the sleeping area and a vestibule that swallows four packs.

Size	4.1 × 2.4 m · 1.9 m peak
Capacity	4 people
Weight	8.4 kg
Waterproofing	3,000 mm PU
Cloth & frame	68D polyester ripstop fly, 3,000 mm PU · 190T breathable inner · Fibreglass pole set, colour-coded · 10,000 mm PE bathtub floor

Colours — Olive Drab · Desert Sand · Slate Blue

FT02 · CAMPING TENTS

Meridian 6P Family Tent

On enquiry
quoted to your size and cloth

Two rooms, one pitch.

A removable centre divider turns one long inner into two private rooms. The extended fly creates a covered porch large enough to cook under in rain.

Size	5.2 × 2.6 m · 2.0 m peak
Capacity	6 people
Weight	11.6 kg
Waterproofing	3,000 mm PU
Cloth & frame	68D polyester ripstop fly, 3,000 mm PU · 190T breathable inner · Fibreglass pole set, colour-coded · 10,000 mm PE bathtub floor

READING THE PRICES

- Prices are ex-works in US dollars, per tent, and exclude GST and freight.
- Every figure is the one published on our canvashome.com price lists.
- A tent marked "On enquiry" has no published list price. Send us its code and we quote it to your size and cloth.
- The Swiss cottage list is published in rupees; it is shown in dollars at exactly ₹100 to $1, not rounded.
- Freight, duties and packing are quoted as separate lines on your quotation.
- There is no minimum order: any piece can be bought as a single unit. Trade pricing applies on volume.
- Any tent can be cut to your own dimensions. A measured drawing is approved before anything is cut.
- Groundsheets, sod cloths and liners are ordered and priced separately from the tent.
- Fire-retardant cloth is available with certification. Where a list does not price it, it is quoted.
- Prices were correct in November 2026 and are confirmed on your quotation.
